South Campus Heating Update

Dear Faculty and Staff,

The three buildings on the South Campus—the Lawrence and Eris Field Building at 17 Lexington Avenue, the Administration Building, and Steven L. Newman Hall—currently do not have heat.

This situation is the result of Phase 1a work this weekend at the Field Building, which required that the piping to the boiler be disconnected and removed to enable crane delivery. This work has affected our ability to provide heat in the Field Building, the Administration Building, and Newman Hall.

Currently, work is being done on the piping to reconnect the boiler for the Administration and Newman Hall buildings. Heat to those buildings is expected to return in the next 90 minutes.

Unfortunately, heat to the 17 Lex building is more problematic. We are working with CUNY Central and the construction manager, LiRo, to provide temporary heat.

We appreciate your continued patience and understanding as we endeavor to modernize 17 Lex, the historic home of Baruch College.

Sincerely
Lisa Edwards
